Presidents Message

Seasons greeting to all the members of the fraternity. I am very much delighted to address from this platform as the president about this new baby of ours "the monthly e news letter" from the ISPPD head office. We had a great start this New Year with as many as 6 CDE programs already conducted and many more coming on the way. As our society is growing and evolving day by day it is high time we have guidelines to direct and lead us. In order to make us at par with the other national and international societies we need debate and discussion to iron out our own unique path. To achieve this we have decided to conduct symposiums at national level to form guidelines. So far the society has proposed to conduct 3 such symposiums and many more are needed to further our understanding and establish the needed guidelines. For further details please visit the website at www.isppd.org. Hope you all as members support us in this endeavor to make our society a path maker in leading us into the next millennium.
